

SEX AND THE CITY: PART TWO?

WELL, ALMOST...

Sex and the City scribe Candace Bushnell has done it again. In Candace's latest tome, Lipstick Jungle, she weaves a seductive, humorous tale about strong, powerful women that will leave you wondering how long before HBO picks it up as a Sunday-night Sex and the City replacement.

Candace celebrated with Desperate Housewives stars Teri Hatcher, Nicollette Sheridan, Eva Longoria and Felicity Huffman at a party at the Argyll Hotel in West Hollywood hosted by Walt Disney President Robert Iger, Hyperion Books and La Mer skin products.

Although not at the event, former SATC star Cynthia Nixon told OK! she's already heard the new book on tape and agreed that it could easily be a predecessor for another TV hit.
